

As 2002 slips into the past
We're amazed, once again, to see time rushing so fast

Thru global upheaval and terrorist threat
And stock market woes that challenge national debt
Horizon's main motive has one major thrust
To remain as a company in which you can trust

We're trying our darndest to bring you the best
New expansions and projects put our crew to the test
We've stretched our facility, increased our space
And put another cool robot to work at our place

In an attempt to stay strong when business is tight
We've expanded our markets, broadened our sights
Our work force too, has grown with new faces
But we'll never forget the old friends who grace us.

With the days winding down and the holidays here
Our thoughts are with those who've helped us thru the year
We are ever so grateful for our past successes
And thank you for your part in these days that have blessed us

Your friends from HORIZON are sending best wishes
For a great holiday and a real Merry Christmas!!
