

Oh goody here comes Christmas, it's a fun time of year
The time we can want stuff, the time gifts are near
Boy, maybe some new tools, a car or a boat,
That shiny new earring, that soft leather coat
Wow, a cherry wood briefcase maybe a red dragon tattoo.
There is so much to ask for; we're just not sure from who?

But we have the good fortune that we rise every day
And we notice quite quickly that things went our way
We don't want much for nothing, nor do we want to forget
That the year's health and blessings were a big gift to get

So the list should be pared back and perhaps it should say
That we want to stay healthy, stay cool and stay strong
Stay friends, stay happy...grow a bit.
That's not wrong.

So it's not about gimme, or I want, or waddya get?
It's about what's still out there to challenge us yet,
It's honestly reflecting on the tacks we have sailed
It's when we thank others who without whom we'd have failed
It's our lives, it's our families, it's what we hold dear
We hold steady the path that we have chosen to steer

Merry Christmas!!
